In rodents, modafinil decreases the acquisition of cocaine, morphine, and methamphetamine self-administration. Here, we tested the effects of modafinil in extinction of opiate and psychostimulant self-administration, as well as its effect on the duration of responding. In a drug-free self-administration paradigm, rats were trained to self-administer heroin (10 mg/kg/infusion) or cocaine (10 mg/kg/infusion) and tested for extinction of self-administration using drug-free training sessions. Modafinil (0, 1, 2 mg/kg), d-amphetamine (0, 2.5, 5 mg/kg), or saline was injected 45 min prior to a session, and rates of responding were recorded for the first 10 min. Modafinil decreased self-administration of heroin, cocaine, and amphetamine, with maximal effects at 2 mg/kg. Doses of 0.5 mg/kg of modafinil decreased cocaine self-administration, but did not affect heroin self-administration. During extinction, modafinil also decreased responding for heroin and cocaine, but did not affect self-administration of amphetamine. Modafinil, amphetamine, or saline did not affect the number of extinction sessions. These findings show that modafinil decreases drug self-administration under both drug-free and operant conditions and decreases responding during extinction, providing evidence that modafinil has similar effects in extinction of psychostimulant and opiate self-administration.Q Will the run of this deck be the same as the number of players? I know that the person who created the design must take into account that there will be 5 players, but I wonder what is the chance that the run of the deck will be the same as the number of players. A: This is completely random. If you were to shuffle a bunch of decks, get rid of duplicates, and then use those cards to make a deck just for your game, then you'd have to start from scratch to find out the probabilities of the individual cards. What you should expect is that the cards will get more common as the game progresses. If you're going to play 5 player games, then your opponents will be drawing a lot of cards throughout the game, especially since they can draw more than one card per turn. If you're going to play a 4 player game, then the cards will
