

Edit: I've edited the link and title because of the news about LZN based on your advice. Thank you! Link to the official site: LZN-SVE-EPIZODE.COM A: I just came across this, and checked it for errors. To my surprise, I found an easily linked download site that was definitely trying to auto-crawl the page. However, in your case I did notice a mixed Content warning in my Chrome browser so whatever it is, it is most likely for your use case. Improving acute hospital length of stay for colorectal cancer using a risk adjustment model.

There is increasing evidence that hospital length of stay (LOS) is increasing. Therefore, there is a need to identify groups of patients who may benefit from alternative models of care. This study aimed to assess the effect of an early discharge tool on acute hospital LOS among patients admitted with colorectal cancer. A retrospective cohort study comparing acute hospital LOS between patients admitted between 1 January 2008 and 31 December 2012 in England (n = 68,092) who died within 60 days of their cancer diagnosis (intention-to-treat) with patients admitted between 1 January 2010 and 31 December 2012 who received early discharge of their cancer (intervention group; n = 3,960). Five-year survival among patients admitted to hospital with colorectal cancer in the control group was 24.7% and in the intervention group was 24.2% ($p = 0.005$). The intervention group had a significantly lower median LOS of 4 days ($p = 0.05$). Early discharge is feasible in the management of patients with colorectal cancer when available to clinicians.

The findings support wider implementation of risk adjustment models and early discharge of patients admitted with colorectal cancer as part of a general strategy of reducing hospital LOS and improving outcomes.Q:
