The Asian Group of London has three councils serving its area: the London Borough of Havering, the London Borough of Bexley and the London Borough of Newham. There are 39 district councils within Greater London, responsible for providing borough-based services such as transport, planning, parks, and waste collection and recycling. There are two London-wide non-metropolitan district councils, the London Waste and Environment Agency and Transport for London. The metropolitan boroughs of Hammersmith and Fulham, the City of London, Southwark, Kensington and Chelsea, Westminster and Lambeth; the London boroughs of Barnet, Camden, Croydon, Islington, Hounslow, Lewisham, Newham, Redbridge, Waltham Forest and the Royal Borough of Greenwich; and the Isles of Scilly and Purbeck District Council, are part of the non-metropolitan county of London. Historically in England, the county government is the highest governing body in each of the historic counties, administered as part of government departments. The United Kingdom remains divided into counties (in Greater London, these are the six metropolitan boroughs and the City of London) and districts, with ceremonial counties remaining the traditional English administrative unit, and with some minor exceptions (particularly in the case of local government in Wales

Field of the Invention The present invention relates to the technical field of speech processing in a vehicle, and more specifically to a speech recognition device, a speech recognition method, and a speech recognition program for analyzing an acoustic signal that includes speech. 2. Description of the Related Art In recent years, speech recognition devices have been widely used in various vehicles. In such a speech recognition device, an acoustic signal that includes speech, as an input signal, is detected, and a speech recognition process is performed on the detected signal. Since the speech recognition device needs to perform a speech recognition process for speech recognition, the speech recognition device needs to have a high capability of speech recognition. For this purpose, a speech recognition device is desired to have a capability of detecting a signal that includes speech with high accuracy even when noise is included. A technology of previously acquiring a feature of an acoustic signal that includes speech and performing a speech recognition process using the feature is available as a general technique of a speech recognition process. Japanese Unexamined Patent Application Publication No. 2007-321452 discloses a technique of acquiring a signal pattern called a “feature vector” by analyzing a frequency spectrum, and determining whether a signal that includes speech is included or not by comparing the feature vector of the signal with a prepared feature vector. Video produced by KUT-TV Locavore In its early days, the food we ate was picked fresh at local farms, used in recipes passed down by generations and eaten from the field. Food wasn’t processed in factories, then shipped long distances to grocery stores, then consumed in flashy restaurants, served to us as “food as we were meant to eat”. But as the population exploded, and as our infrastructure crumbled, we became dependent on that vast network of trucks and factories that brought us food. As natural farming advocates, we took the time to grow our own foods, and put
